

Teaching Scotland's Future: the role of research and professional enquiry in implementing the Donaldson recommendations.

A series of events organised by the joint Teacher Education and Teachers' Work (TETW) Research Group of the Universities of Glasgow and Strathclyde - open to everyone with an interest in Teacher Education in Scotland.

Seminar 1: Early Phase of Professional Learning: Relevant research evidence from current initiatives.
Tuesday 6 December 2011, 2.00-4.00pm, at the School of Education, University of Glasgow, St Andrew's Building, Eldon Street, Glasgow.

Seminar 2: Career-Long Professional Learning: Relevant research evidence from current initiatives.
Thursday 12 January 2012, 2.00 to 4.00pm, at the School of Education, University of Strathclyde, Jordanhill Campus, Glasgow .

Seminar 3: Professional Learning for Leadership: Relevant research evidence from current initiatives.
Thursday 16 February 2012, 2.00 to 4.00, at the School of Education, University of Glasgow, St Andrew's Building, Eldon Street, Glasgow.

TETW Lecture: Teaching Matters – Ten years of reform in teacher education and teachers' work.
Professor Ian Menter, University of Glasgow.
Wednesday 14 March 2012, 6.00pm (Tea and Coffee from 5.30pm), McCance Lecture Theatre, University of Strathclyde, Richmond Street, Glasgow

As he prepares for his return to teacher education in England, Ian Menter will reflect on ten years of change in Scottish education and the ways in which the reforms of McCrone, Donaldson and McCormac have been reshaping teacher professionalism.

Ian Menter is currently Professor of Teacher Education at the University of Glasgow and was a founding member of the TETW research group. In April 2012 he will move to the University of Oxford where he will be Professor of Teacher Education and Director of Professional Programmes in the Department of Education

*Plus... a date for your diary: Friday 8 June, TETW Conference 2012, theme: "researching teachers work"**

If you wish to attend any of these events, please email margaret.mitchell@strath.ac.uk

